TIME

TIME MOVES SO QUICKLY;
THERE'S NOT A MOMENT TO SPARE
THE MONTHS FLOW BY LIKE A STREAM;
TOMORROW'S ANOTHER DAY TO SHARE.
WHY DO WE RUSH THE MOMENTS
THAT AREN'T HERE LONG?
SOON THE YEAR WILL BE OVER;
FINISHED, ENDED, AND GONE.

Student Life

Everyone knows that the school bell rings at 8:00, but most people get here at 7:45. That is the most active time here at Wayne. The whole school is animated by the hustle and bustle of a new day.

Students can be found standing in the commons gossiping with their friends, or walking the halls with their current boyfriend or girlfriend. Some will be in their cars getting their last puff of nicotine until 2:35. On days when it rains people can be spotted in the bathroom fixing their hair. Girls often spend their time re-doing the make-up they put on half an hour before. Morning is the perfect time to finish your homework, or to cram for that first period English test. It is your time to do what you want.

Whatever the activity there is always the mad dash to get from one side of the building to the other before the tardy bell rings.

ALUMNI COME HOME

Following a truly spirited week, the Fort was prepared for a grueling game against Harding. But by halftime Wayne could not make up the difference of points between the two schools. The band marched out onto the field, giving their best performance to a disappointed crowd as the ladies of the court were presented by their escorts.

Anxiety filled the air as the moment drew near to announce the 1983 Homecoming queen. The audience was silent . . . a cool northern air blew over . . . suddenly, Shelley Jones, was awarded the honor of the evening.

As the stadium lights faded, brilliant fireworks burst overhead. Later, a dance was held for past and present students to talk on common ground. The night brought back memories of old for all those involved.

SPIRIT WEEK

Debbie Lansky smiles with great flare as the photographer took her picture on "hat and shades day."

Into our dull routine slipped Spirit Week, bringing with it a bright array of smiles and contrasting clothing. Monday began with hat and shades day. Every style of glasses were worn from 3-d to the ultra modern "bug."

Tuesday, students pulled from their closets their snazziest, cleanest suit while on Wednesday the "sweat hogs" returned for sweat day.

That evening the Juniors met the Seniors in the annual Powderpuff game. The Seniors raised their winning record to 12-1 defeating the Juniors 34-7. For halftime entertainment, a Big Wheel race was held on the track. The cheerleaders reigned first with the Generalettes and Latin Club in 2nd and 3rd respectively. Following the game, spirits flamed by "burning the Hawks" at the bonfire. Thursday brought out the "I'm a wild and crazy guy" in everyone.

Friday, the last eventful day, was red and blue. The outdoor Pep Session brought together the football team and Homecoming court for a spectacular afternoon in the great outdoors at the stadium. The Blue Guard performed and helped to uplift our spirits still further for the Harding game in the evening.

SPIRIT BUILDERS

Spirit and Pride is a "must" at most schools and Wayne High School is no exception. Spirit couldn't be created from nothing. It had to be there waiting to be found. Cheerleaders had the responsibility of finding that spirit.

It's not all glamour in a cheerleader's life. The only portion people seem to see is young men and women doing cheers in front of the entire student body. All the hours put into creating their vivid posters and boisterous cheers were primarily ignored. Yet, these hours resulted in raising the spirits of Wayne Generals.

If cheering wasn't enough, the cheerleaders bustled about selling scarfs, mittens and key chains occupying the rest of their time. Ask any cheerleader and she'll probably tell you that all the hard work is worth it; the fun, laughter and good times always outweigh the bad.

The three squads, varsity, reserve, and freshman worked hard to create an atmosphere of spirit and enthusiasm for the 1983-84 season.

A New Beginning

After days of sleeping until noon, swimming at all hours, and going to parties, students were shocked back into the realization that school would soon commence. On August 24th and 25th, the young men and women of Wayne reported to school for Pre-registration Days.

The students met with changes in the pre-registration process, one of which was the distribution of identification cards. Pictures were taken at one of the first stations and, at the end of the pre-registration route, the ID cards were completed and issued to students.

All-in-all, pre-registration went very smoothly, partly due to the students' readiness to return. Dr. White was especially pleased with their attitude and no doubt hoped that this unified spirit would extend throughout the entire year.

Lights, Camera,

FASHIONS!

From the ragged, over-sized shirts and worn fatigue of the Vietnam War era to oxford shirts and designer jeans, the changes in student styles comprised a "Rags to Riches" story. Teenagers dress ranged from classic "Preppy," to cut-off sweatshirts, to crazy punk.

The return of the "preppy" look brought wool skirts, buttoned-down oxford shirts, and colorful ties, and tailored Cheeno pants into many wardrobes. Sweaters and print turtlenecks were popular. The Whale, Lips, Alligator, and Polo all became signs of the times.

The movie Flashdance inspired the demand for cut-off sweatshirts in all colors with wide necklines for intentional slippage — there were lots of shoulder showing, waists were dropped or left undefined, otherwise they were wrapped round and round with belts. Jewelry was big and bold. Setting the tempo was profusion of dangling earrings and rows of necklaces.

The "Punk" look resembled the music, loud and strong. Flourescent colors and large dominate patterns were characteristics of the style.

Designer jeans were a new craze in fashion. The status symbols of Calvin Klein, Jordache, Gloria Vanderbilt, Pierre Cardin and Sasson comprised several styles which ended the stereotype that jeans were "knock-around" clothes.

Hard-soled, narrow toed shoes were worn with most fashions, even jeans. Topsiders, pumps, penny loafers and ankle-strap heels were common.

Hair styles varied with styles of clothing. Platting with ribbons, curly perms and feathering were popular, but favorite of all was the "Punk" style. It was short and uneven, cut away from the side of the face and left long in the back.

Although changes in fashion were common, most students frequently returned to the "ol' stand-bys" t-shirts, Levis and tennis shoes.

Let the Music Play

The 1983-84 Band and Corps started their season marching two miles in downtown Ft. Wayne, during the Three Rivers Festival parade. Later that week they went on to Cedar Point to perform and enjoy themselves the rest of the day. During the days of band camp, practices were unbearably hot, and it showed, as people fainted on the field from extreme heat and exhaustion. After many grueling nights of practice, the marchers were ready to attempt performing in the District Marching Contest at which they received a 2nd place rating. Long after the days of practices, they went on to the Homstead Festival, there the marchers performed in the pouring down rain, but surprisingly, due to the conditions, the band received the first 1st place rating in the history of the school. They also participated in the Concord Festival receiving a 2nd place rating. It was not all work for the band and corps; they also had a lot of fun in such recreational activities as, bowling, swimming at Quabache State Park, and a fun-filled hayride.

The band and corps performed during the half-time of every home football and basketball game. Their spirit was high, thus raising the spirits of all General fans. Under the leadership of Rick Smith the Blue Guard marches on.

PERFORMING ARTS; Strings & Woodwinds Come Together

The concert band and orchestra traveled to Harding High School to compete in the annual ISSMA contest. The concert band received a 2nd rating while the orchestra obtained a perfect rating. Both the band and the orchestra played in the Spring concert held here at Wayne. The talent, ranging from individual to group assemblies, showed the excellence of Wayne's Performing Arts.

The Publications Dept:

THE BEST IS YET TO COME

Throughout the year there is a group of hardworking individuals constantly capturing precious moments of the school year in pictures, articles and statistics. The group is known as the Publications Department and is divided into two sections; the yearbook and the newspaper.

The newspaper staff known as the Dispatch produces a newspaper bi-weekly. The Dispatch brings the events of the current weeks to the students with features, news, editorials, music reveiws, letters to the editor and sport statistics. Having a staff of twenty-three students; Editor-in-chief Troy Miller, News Editor Michael Arnold, Sports Editor Darren Sullivan, Photo Editor Scott Hans, with a number of writers and photographers made the newspaper one of the best.

The other half of the department is the yearbook staff. The staff works all year to capture time in one volume known as the Sentry. Editor-in-chief Foxy Beemer and Section editors Marie Hamrick, Brenda Werling and staff writers work together to produce a yearbook that covers practically all events, clubs, sports, news happenings and other points of interest that happen through the course of the school year.

The Publications Department would not be complete without the person whom is a part of both staffs and that is the adviser Pamela Teegardin. She maintained the production of both staffs well, including her sanity.

Juniors Darren Sullivan and Mike Arnold have fun at a late night paste-up.

Stepping Into the Spotlight

The 1983-84 school year saw Wayne students performing in two extraordinary plays. The fall play, Dracula, featured Mike Arnold as the bloodthirsty vampire who terrorizes the inhabitants of an English sanatorium. There, he uses his evil powers to entrap two victims: Jonathon Harker (Dan Zimmerman) and Lucy's uncle, Dr. Quincy (Paul Underwood), alarmed by his niece's mysterious "illness", enlists the help of the brilliant Professor Van Helsing (Dave Treese). Together, they destroy Dracula and rescue Lucy and Jonathan from his clutches.

Spring brought Sweeney Todd, Demon Barber of the Barbary Coast to Wayne's stage. Lance Garver headed the cast as the evil barber, Sweeney Todd. With the help of the greedy "meat pie" maker, Mrs. Lovett (Laura Swartz), Todd murders wealthy customers and robs them of their valuables. In planning for his future, Todd decides to give up his business, marry the socially prominent Lily Fairoak (Lisa Lebamoffj). His scheme to blackmail her into matrimony with her late father's debts fails; however, as Lily's true love Sailor Tom (Mike Arnold), nearly a victim of the straight razor himself, returns to expose Sweeney Todd's treachery in time.

Laura Swartz, Jackie Miller, Dan Zimmerman, Sandy Morin and Paul Underwood portray victims of Dracula's treachery in the Vampire Play.

Lovett (Laura Swartz) and Scruples (Eric Mory) make wedding plans behind the barber chair and Mrs. Mearly (Suzie Wisniewski) curbs the checkerboard twins (Sean Rogers and Dan Zimmerman) as Sweeney Todd (Lance Garver) begins to slice the honorable neck of Mr. Chang (Charlie Clayton)

Singers Perform With: Sensational Skill

The Sensation Singers has completed yet another year of competition. Jerry Anderson, the director of the group, completed the year's responsibilities with the assistance of student directors Shelly Jones, Dave Leakey, and Monica Hall. The Sensation Singers placed highly in many contests this year, including the Fort Wayne National Bank Contest and the Plymouth High School Invitational. The singers worked extremely hard throughout the year, preparing and perfecting contest performances. They have entertained numerous local organizations when not practicing for area contests. The Sensation Singers concluded the year with the production of "Standing Room Only."

Future Leaders in Student Council

The student council headed by president Dan Reuille had many plans for the new administration, but unfortunately lack of participation and new ideas hindered the council. The school year blasted off to a success with Homecoming which included the crowning of the queen. The Christmas season brought with it donations for the Matthew 25 project. The blood mobiles proved fruitful keeping Wayne at the top of the list. Although the projects that were accomplished were successful there were also some failures. But unity and leadership kept the group going.

Speech, one of the more enthusiastic, innovative, creative activities requires a person with both clarity in pronunciation as well as the ability to impromptu. The 1984 year brought with it a variety of newcomers to the team; tripling its size from the previous year to 27 people. After the first speech meet was over and Wayne's team brought home a sixth place trophy, it was obvious that all the hard work and practice was going to pay off.

That was just the beginning for the talented group of individuals whose tenacious memories carried them through a winning season. The speech team placed in 10 of the 12 meets attended, including the Sectional and Regional Tournaments. Though several members were not able to compete as much as they would have liked due to other activities, the membership still remained constant.

Those who qualified for Regionals Henry Cantey, David Grimme, and Ann Pratt also placed consistently throughout the season. Some of the outstanding "Speechters" included Discussionist Mike Ganaway, Original Orator Dave Schwartz, and Impromptu Orator Dave Leakey who represented Wayne at the State level of competition. Ganaway, a novice of the event, placed fifth in his division.

With so many new members, the Wayne Speech Team was able to put the maximum number of individuals in each category, resulting in a better opportunity to acquire sweepstakes points. The team achieved the high status of having one of the best seasons in the history of the here at Wayne.

Wayne: Part of the Community

Every school is part of its community this year. Wayne has contributed to the city in many ways. One of these was when the students gathered at the Fort early on a Saturday morning to dedicate their time in cleaning the surrounding area. Another more important accomplishment was the record number of blood donations. At Christmas the annual charity fund drive was held with the result of over 2,000 dollars going to Matthew 25, a free clinic in downtown Fort Wayne.

Wayne takes pride in being part of Fort Wayne, the city which this year received the Most Livable City award and the All American City award.

We have taken pride in our mascot which came from our city's founder General Anthony Wayne. This year has marked a new beginning for the city with the building the new convention center and the opening of the new Art Museum. With accomplishments such as these, it's no wonder why students at Wayne are so proud.

Moonlight And Roses: A Memorable Night

On the evening of May 5th, while darkness crept through the silent halls of Wayne High School, the moonlight glimmered through the windows of the commons. The stars shone brightly, highlighting the effect of the moonlight on the trimming roses. "Moonlight and Roses" was the theme of the 1984 Junior-Senior prom.

It was an enchanted evening, seeing the commons of Wayne transformed into a virtual garden of roses, geraniums, and vines. With soft, gentle whites and subtle grays the setting gave one the feeling of walking through a rose garden on a warm, moonlit evening.

A stand near the entrance of the main hall gave the couples the sense of being on a balcony which overlooked a fountain a few feet away.

There was a blue tint on the evening from the overhead lights in the commons, giving the "moonlit" effect. The prom Queen for "Moonlight and Roses" was Carol Zimmerman, and the King was Dan Craddock.

Clubs

During the 1983-84 school year students looked forward to the activity periods. Once a month they provided each and every student the chance to get involved with an extra curricular activity. Since most students ride busses to Wayne, clubs that met during the day allowed students who had no private transportation an opportunity to participate. Thus every student was involved with more than just academics. The variety of choices gave each student the opportunity to get involved with the club that interested him most. There were large clubs such as FCA, Afro American, social, and last but not least the ever popular study hall. This was offered to the student who had no desire to involve himself in any particular club. Participation, unity, and leadership were the key to the success of these clubs.

SPORTS

As students trudge into their classrooms at 10:00 A.M., their feelings are mixed. For some, distracting thoughts of the half-day already gone and the half yet to come keep their minds wandering. For others, it is the seemingly endless length of the class that promotes their unsettledness. Some suffer from the rumble of an impatient stomach in dire need of nourishment. But all seem to feel the restless mood of 3rd period.

A daily ritual during this third hour is announcements. These attempts to inform the population of Wayne are often barely audible above the noisy conversations, occasionally bringing sharp reprimands from the teachers. After announcements, the students usually settle down considerably, but the restlessness in the air causes many to steal an occasional glance at the clock as the longest hour of the day passes by slowly.

As 11:05 approaches, you can find many students crowding around the doors of their classrooms. They anxiously await the sound of the bell so that they can quiet their angry stomachs or unwillingly start waiting again.

A Game That Never Came

The 1983 football season was a little disappointing to the Wayne Generals as their season ended with a record of 2-8. Many bright spots were seen during the season. The most notable bright spot was the game against Homestead. Wayne took a halftime lead on the strength of Andy Burton's arm. Homestead roared back in the second half to tie the score at 20 with 43 second left. Homestead still had an extra point to attempt, all the Generals thought the game was lost. But, Bob Skinner broke through and blocked the kick to send the game into overtime, where Wayne was victorious, 28-26. Another bright spot was the game against South Side. This was a defensive battle, the entire game, as Tom Lebamoff and Paul Springer led the defensive charge. The game ended in a scoreless tie and it went into overtime where Wayne took a lead first. South Side scored and tried for the 2-point conversion, but the defense led by Kenny Hughes and Anthony Shelton stopped the South Side running back before he could get in the endzone. The final score was Wayne 8 South 6. Wayne's offense through the season was led by Andy Burton who threw over 1,000 yards, most of those yards going to Kurt Roe and Rick Hackbarth. Bob Stone was the leading rusher with over 600 yards on the ground. The offensive line was anchored by Bob Ort amd Mark Ragon. Jim Letner was the punter, along with playing offense and defense. The defense was led by Bob Skinner and Tom Lebamoff, as they led the team in tackles with 70 and 50 tackles respectively. Who knows what the season would have been like if defensive standout Lon Morton wasn't injured in the first game.

A Season To Reflect Inexperience

This year the freshman season was filled with a lot of ups and downs. Pat Lee rushed for over 500 yards in 6 games. Jim Read became the first freshman to letter in football at Wayne High School. Matt Schwarts and Bob Asher were the leading tacklers on the team. Tracey McKinney and Bob Harmeyer were the leading receivers.

The team had a lot of fun during the season. A lot of the players' favorite game was the game against Snider. The Wayne defense held Snider to just 6 first downs the whole game while the Wayne offense had 16. The game was played in the rain and mud. Most of the team came off the field covered with mud.

The team got plenty of experience under the coaching of Nate Evans. Varsity Coach Hole said that this was one of the hardest hitting teams in Wayne's history. He also stated that if anyone would turn around the football program at Wayne it would be them.

Young and Old

The Wayne volleyball team did well this season despite the loss of six graduates. The young team, with only three seniors, faced a tough and demanding schedule, but they met the challenge head-on, ending the season with a record of sixteen and sixteen.

In the opening matches, Wayne was defeated by Norwell, New Haven, and then by Woodlan. The Generals were triumphant over South Adams 9-15, 15-5, 15-5. After that victory, Wayne improved during the exciting season.

In the Bellmont match, Wayne won the first game 15-8 then lost 9-15. Then the team was pepped up by Coach Wilkerson and came back, to win the third game victoriously 15-8.

After beating both Whitko and Columbia City, the sparks flew and Wayne defeated seven of the opponents they met.

The performances were good this year with freshman Tammy Correll having the most assists, and Sandy Melton with the most digs in the SAC. Also contributing to the team Jill Homrig, Nan Chenoweth, Jill Seaman, Brenda Werling, Juli Zimske, and Patti McCleneghan making all-SAC. Senior players Tammy Armstrong, Terri Hoffman and Kathy O'Reilly contributed greatly.

Sweating Chanel No. 5

With only two experienced runners returning for competition Senior Captain Lana Lehman and Junior Amie Klopfenstein, the girls cross-country team got off to a rough start. Recruiting for the team began early in August with two practices a day in the hot, muggy 90 degree weather. But the team managed to have ten girls defeat the elements, the difficult agenda, and obtain personal goals.

There were varying styles of running from "chair sitting Lana" to "straight legged Marie" to "naturals Amie, Karen, and Michelle," but this did not affect their placement in the meets. Lana Lehman paced the pack running in front with Amie Klopfenstein, Karen Gause, Marie Hamrick, Shari Carsten, Carol Mourey, Heather Hamrick, Renee Sullivan, Michelle Johnson, and Karen Milner following close behind.

Though the team ran in a pack at Sectionals, the late night parties combined with the drizzly, dreary morning took their toll, and the girls were unable to gain a trip to Regionals. With the loss of one member, the girls cross-country team will have a head start on next year. Lana Lehman will be missed greatly, but the 1984 team will be young and experienced; therefore, Coach Bill Blosser can look forward to the coming season.

Wayne's Cross-Country Team coached by Nelson Detwiler once again proved themselves winners with an outstanding season record of 11 wins and only two losses. Although the 90 degree August practices were unbearable, individuals achieved personal goals as the season progressed.

Senior, Ricky Wims, (if he didn't get lost) led the team with Carl Stoker, Nate Dawkins, Phil Hunkler, Ken Keesler, and Dave Milner following in his path. Wayne suffered two early defeats from Harding and Snider.

At Sectionals the still improving Wayne Team amazed everyone (but themselves) with a second place finish. Ricky Wims led the team with a third place finish followed by Carl Stoker 11th and Nate Dawkins 12th.

Wayne advanced to Regionals at Shoaff Park and tied for fifth place with Heritage. This was a great disappointment for the team due to the fact that only the top four teams were allowed to compete in Semistate. Wims placed third in Regionals and was the only Wayne runner to advance to the Semistate where he placed 29th.

". . . It was a good season."

No coach likes to think of a year as a building season, but to have successful teams you occasionally have to build experience and take some losses. Though coach Bill Ragle may not have planned so many losses in the season, a group of talented underclassmen began to turn in some fine performances late in the going.

The north side of town, put a damper on Wayne's team this year as they fell to a disappointing seventh place in the SAC. The General men were able to post only two conference victories before sectionals.

The power of playing was the Generals' main factor in successful team effort. Even though the Generals excelled in turning out superb individual performances, their most vital asset was their teamwork.

One player who will be sorely missed is Kerry Mumma. His triumphs in his three years at different spots led Wayne to innumerable victories.

The Wayne Generals Basketball squad ended their 1983-84 season with a 7-15 record. They finished 5-13 in the regular season and 3-6 in S.A.C.

The Generals started the season out at a slow pace, losing five out of their first six contests. The lone victory came at home against the Jay County Patriots.

In December, the Generals competed in the city-wide Holiday Tournament at the Memorial Coliseum. Wayne advanced to the semi-finals only to be defeated by the Harding Hawks by a one point margin.

January proved to be the most productive month for the Generals as they gained two inter-conference victories in a row. The first came at North Side for their second win over the Redskins and the following came at home against the Concordia Cadets.

When Sectional time rolled around in March, the Generals started off on the right foot, taking Concordia out of the Fort Wayne II tourney. The Generals then faced the Elmhurst Trojans in the semi-finals. Wayne did not get the breaks they needed to overcome the Trojans. This loss eliminated Wayne from the competition.

Coach Doerhman's small team was led by seniors Mike Mungovan, Rick Melton, and Mike Carter. They contributed the most rebounds, assists, and highest score average per game, respectively. Sophomore, Parnell Creech, also added needed efforts to the team's success. The Generals were able to pull themselves together by the end of the season.

The Freshman Basketball Team had difficulty with team effort. They pressed . . . but not enough. They shot . . . but not enough. The season was not as impressive as in previous years, but there were some highlights. Earl Moody showed much potential, while his teammates Jim Read and Shawn Brooks continued on to play reserve. Coach DeTurk can be proud that he trained these young individuals.

The Sophomore Team also had a problem with contributing wins to their record. One was accomplished early in the season against Angola, but the team could not obtain another win. Coach Hole maintained his confidence and strived to better improve the team's attitude.

The Reserve Team had an excellent season defeating such highly ranked teams as Anderson, Concordia, and Northrop. Coach Mendenhall's team was led by Sophomores Reggie Wright, Goldie Totten, Ken Agnew, Rod Melton, and Jarrod Dossen. The Generals lost their first two games but came back in full swing to overcome Concordia and Harding to win the Reserve Holiday Tournament at Bishop Luers. The reserve team ended their season 15-5 which proved the old saying that "practice makes perfect."

Alone in the Eye of the Hurricane

When describing the 1983-1984 wrestling team Charles Dickens probably said it best in his novel Tale of Two Cities. "It was the best of times, it was the worst of times." At least it was the best of times for Senior Tim Gouloff, Team Captain at 126 pounds. Tim posted 14-11 record with a first place at Logansport, sixth place at Goshen, fourth place at SAC and finishing third in sectionals. Tim managed the only winning season record. Junior Rick Seifert captured a 10-16 season record at 132 pounds, finishing third at Logansport, sixth at Goshen, fifth in the SAC and finishing third in Sectionals respectively.

Freshman Ricky Quinones had an encouraging season record of 9-13, finishing fifth at Goshen, and sixth in SAC. Dan Craddock, one of two Seniors on the team, settled with a 7-11-1 season record. He finished third in Sectionals and Logansport, and also fourth at Goshen.

This season was also the worst of times for the wrestling team as a whole. The team surpassed the 3-8-1 record of 1974-75, with a record of 0-13. This year's team had only four returning lettermen; Tim Gouloff, Matt Simerman, Dan Craddock, and Troy Miller. Miller and others left the team for various reasons during mid-season.

For the reserves the season seemed more satisfying. The reserves presented a 4-5-1 team record. senior Tracey Hathaway, at 126 points, led the team with 9-0 record followed by Matt Simerman at 119 pounds, with a 7-3 record. Steve Mix at 126 pounds, and Larry McGuire at 177 pounds, aided the team with a 7-6 record from Mix, and a 6-3 record from McGuire. McGuire also captured first place at the Adams Central "C" tournament.

As one reflects on the season he sees the best and worst of times. However, the best may come from the worst, the team just needs a little more time.

Senior Dan Craddock — "It was a disappointing end to a rather disappointing season"

AT THE TOP:

Gymnasts on the Road to Success.

Achieving one of the best records of the year, the 1983-84 Gymnastic Team shone brightly sending four individuals to Regionals and two on to State. Despite the conflicts between the gymnasts, the team managed a consistently winning season. Coaches Rhonda Hyndman and Carol Werling organized many fundraisers such as a tumble-a-thon, opening concession stands, etc. so the gymnasts could obtain new leotards.

After the Sectional meet four individuals qualified for Regional competition. Kathy Carpenter on all-around, Foxy Beemer on floor-exercise and vault, Tammy Correll on vault, and Marie Hamrick on floor-exercise and beam. Alternates Sanya Steele and Keri Larimore qualified on floor-exercise and bars, respectively. Out of this meet two athletes participated in the State meet in Indianapolis; Beemer on vault and Hamrick on beam. Beemer placed 11th on vault and Hamrick finished 16th on the beam.

Finishing the season with style, the gymnastic team proved the old adage that "practice really does make perfect."

The Generals' biggest problem throughout the year was their height and weight, or lack of it. Wayne was one of the smallest teams in the area. Patti McCleneghen and Kathy O'Reilly, Wayne's big people underneath, managed to play evenly with their opponents though nearly always giving away several inches and pounds.

Neither height nor weight seemed to faze Fox's players at the outset of the season. They were victorious in one of their first three games, losing then the next two games. Their momentum came again when SAC rival Bishop Luers was demolished 41-26.

After winning two games out of six the Generals were victims of losing seven games but winning one against Concordia. Five of those losses were to SAC opponents before a triumph win over South Side. Wayne did not fare much better for the remainder of the year.

The Generals drew highly regarded Bishop Luers in the first round of the sectional. Wayne had whitewashed them during the season. Coach Fox instilled life in his sagging team for the contest, and it showed as his team kept pace with the Knights in the early going, but losing 34-35, Luers.

Senior Kathy O'Reilly pulled an average of six rebounds a game and denied opponents shots while contributing eight points of offensive power per game. Patti McCleneghen picked off over seventy five rebounds and helped lead the team in shooting from the field. Fox was fortunate to have excellent ball handlers, Kathy Wyss and Carol Mourey, whose jobs were to control the ball in key situations. Jill Homrig also chipped in eight points a game, and Brenda Werling was the top shooter from the charity stripe.

Wayne's underclass basketball program showed some impressive teams and pointed to a few stars of its own. The reserve team finished 12-5 and winning the reserve tourney. The freshman team finished 8-2.

Karen Milner "The experiences we gained this year will be useful in the future, not only in basketball but in life."

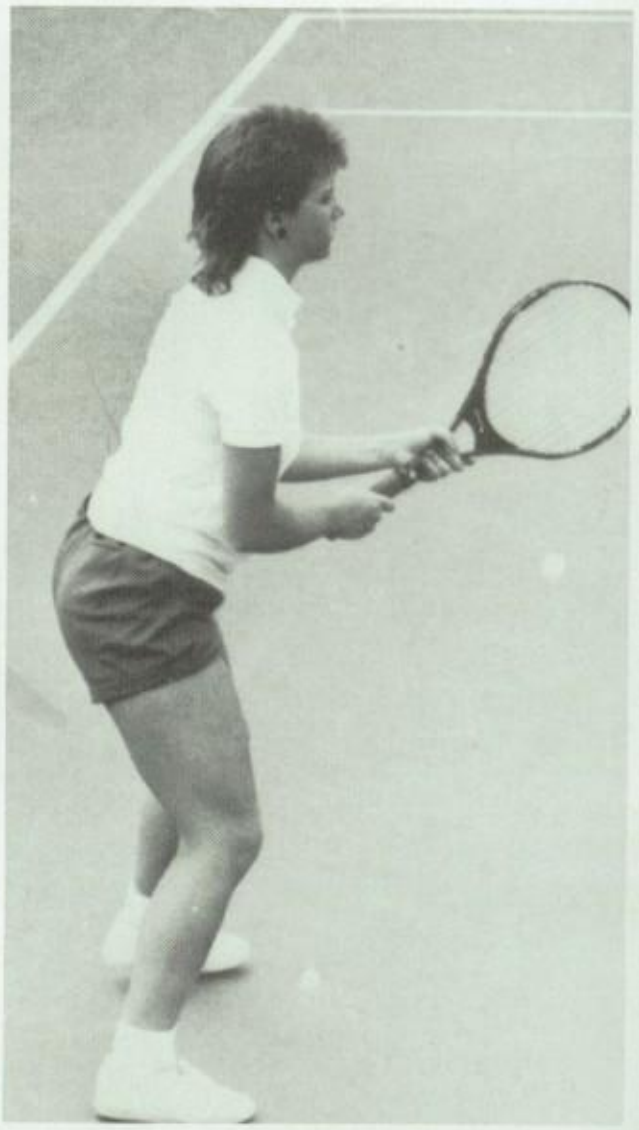
Sandy Melton "We knew the team was young and inexperienced so we decided just to go out and have a good time."



The Generals were not so concerned with winning as they were with having a good time. Although the team did manage to forge a 5-7 record, the players concentrated on team unity and supporting each other no matter what the line scores read.

Coached by William Ragle, each of the Generals played his own style of match. With Judy Melton at one singles, Terry Hoffman at two singles, Lisa Criswell at three singles, Sandy Melton and Erica Knuth at one doubles, and Jill Seaman and Yui Matsuoka at two doubles, the Generals sported a three senior line-up with very little experience.

When at last the season ended in late May, the entire team said their goodbye's to Wayne's playing courts covered their racquets, and drove off to get something to eat.

The New Way to Spell Relief

The baseball team was slow starting this year, losing several of their early games. But as temperatures rose, so did the Generals' fortunes, as they closed out the season with a record 15-12.

Mike Mumgovan was once again the team's top slugger. Mumgovan led the team in home runs and RBI's showed his all-round ability by hitting over .400, and was named all-SAC. Andy Burton led the team in hitting and could usually be found among the top ten hitters in the area. Mike Springer was versatile as a pitcher, hitter, and fielder.

The four seniors who will leave, will leave behind large gaps that Coach Merkler will have to fill. Another contributing factor to the success was Bob Skinner, who improved so much that by year's end he was one of the top players in the city.

The 1984 reserve baseball team coached by Frank Hole had an outstanding year. The Generals posted a 7-3 record. This was the best any Wayne reserve baseball team has had in a long time.

The Generals only losses came against, South Side, Homestead, and Dwenger. Thanks to a solid pitching staff, the General held the opposition to a very few runs. Jarrod Dossen and Tom Jackson were pitching aces for the Generals.

Team batting leaders were Rod Melton, and Tim Lee, along with Jim Read. Other offensive standouts were Britt Stone who had a hot bat with a speedy pair of legs. Jarrod Dossen was a clutch hitter for the reserve as well as the varsity squad. John Bowman showed his outstanding fielding ability in the infield and will be a prime prospect for the varsity team.

Par for the course

The Generals started their campaign out slowly, winning only a single match out of the first six. Finally coordinating their abilities, the team rallied to win five of their next eight meets.

With the help of senior Rick Melton and sophomore Matt Simerman the Generals compiled 355 points for the Elmhurst sectional which was enough for an impressive eighth place out of 19 teams.

Wayne finished in fifth place in the SAC meet and ended up in tenth out of 17 teams in the Concordia Invitational. The bright spot of the year came when senior Rick Melton was awarded ALL-SAC.

The reserve team, after dropping their first two matches bounced back to win the next two. They changed their strategy, but the final pair of matches were a disappointing loss bringing their final record to 2-4.

"Even though we did not have a great season, we had a good time." — Rick Melton, team captain

Wayne Gives Them Wims and Springer at State

This year's boys track team provided a few pleasant surprises for Coach Detwiler. The track team's strength this year was held mostly by the seniors and freshmen.

Hurdler James Capers, high jumper Bruce Leverette, and distance runner Carl Stoker, provided the talent needed to fill the positions of graduating seniors of last year's squad. In regular season competition the Generals finished with a record of one win and six losses.

During Sectionals, Seniors' Ricky Wims and Paul Springer had two great individual efforts and both placed high to make it on to Regionals. Ricky took 1st in the 400 meter dash at both Sectionals and Regionals, and Paul placed 3rd in Sectionals and 2nd in Regionals. At Regional competition, Paul threw the discus a distance of 160'8", far enough to break a long standing school record. And from there, on to State Competition, where Ricky took 4th place in the meet with a time of 49.3.

"We worked our butts off this season!"

Not With a Bang but a Whisper

Jill Homrig "We knew the team was young, so we decided to go out there and give it all we had."

The cold and windy 1984 track season for Wayne's lady Generals started off with an impressive win over Bellmont and South Adams; Wayne 67, Bellmont 49, South Adams 21. The small but determined team, coached by Bill Blosser, went on to finish the season with a 6-6 record, a good showing for the often outnumbered team.

Many of the girls had to run an exhausting amount of events because of the small team size. Lana (Scoots) Lehman often ran the 1600, 800, and 400 meter leg of the 1600 meter relay, a tiring line up for anyone. Michele Cramer, Becky Hardy and Patti McCleneghen displayed good sprinting versatility by running a potpourri of short distances. The season was a lot of fun and hard work but the two put together made quite a successful season.

THE SPORTING LOOK

It has been an up and down year for Wayne's athletic teams. The Generals' well rounded attack in many different sports gave them a good shot at both the boy's and girl's All-City sports trophies.

The boys and girls squads thrilled the majority of Generals' sports enthusiasts. For example, the boys track team was on the right path. Senior team members Ricky Wims and Paul Springer participated in the boys state track meet.

Also, it would be difficult to over-look the two girls, Foxy Beemer and Marie Hamrick, who went to state in gymnastics. A disciplined volleyball group posted a 16-16 regular season mark.

Because of these and similar successes in other sports, we take the opportunity to give special recognition to all participants and coaches who worked so hard.

ACADEMICS

Between 11:10 and 12:35 the students of Wayne High School can be found in their favorite class . . . lunch. A surprising number of activities happen during Wayne's three lunch mods. Although the school lunch serves as a source for many put downs and complaints most people eat. The free time provides an even greater service by giving the students time to do their own thing.

Most students can get through the line and eat in a matter of minutes leaving time for more important things like goofing off. People invade the commons and talk. Some go to shoot baskets and others watch; the bathrooms fill as people crowd around the mirrors. Students take care of business in the office. R.V.S. students can be seen coming or going. Many students use their extra time to study in the library. Whatever the activity, lunch is the time to do it.

With all the things to do in a school day, lunch may be the most important, not to mention one of the favorites.

ADMINISTRATORS ARE:

READY AND WILLING

The 1983-84 school year went quite well as each administrator would say. They were faced with problems such as smoking, which has decreased from last year, and also any other typical problems that exist in every school. However, you never heard them complaining. They were always willing to listen whether it was a personal or academically related problem.

Without recognition, they supported Wayne at sporting events, plays, dances, and many other school related activities. They were there when we accepted our victories and in return were there for our defeats. Most students forget about the thank-you owed to them for their work, support, and last but not least . . . their friendship.

DESSERT:

DESERVING AWARDED

Students, teachers, parents, and special students gathered together in the cafeteria on May 11, 1984 to honor Wayne's top students. The principal, Mr. Davis, welcomed all to our school, and Valedictorian, Rex Hambrock gave the invocation, while the strawberry shortcake parfaits were served.

As usual the Sensation Singers provided superb entertainment throughout the dessert. With the conclusion of the dessert, Mr. Duff addressed the audience on the topic of decisions. Mr. Duff advised the listeners that students must be responsible and make proper decisions now.

The General Award was given to those freshmen, sophomores, and juniors having a 10.0 grade point average for the first three quarters of the 1983-84 school year. The Senior Honor and General awards were given to seniors having a 9.0 and 10.0 grade point average.

The top ten seniors were named as well as the Valedictorian and Salutatorian, Rex Hambrock and Amy Renninger, respectively.

Mr. Davis welcomes students, parents, and faculty to the honored occasion while the Generalettes served the parfaits.

Dr. Masterson presents the physics award at the award ceremonies.

No Man Stands Alone

It was Monday, June 4, 1984. The setting was the Memorial Coliseum, where over 200 young men and women gathered for what would be the last time they would be together as a class. There were last minute checks on whether the hats were on straight and whether the tassles were on the correct side. The orchestra began to play and the nervous seniors entered to face a new beginning.

They sat wringing their hands in anticipation of finally receiving their diplomas. There were the traditional speeches by the Salutatorian Amy Renniger, the Valedictorian Rex Hambrock, and Superintendent Bill Anthis who chose the class motto "No man stands alone" as their subjects.

The speeches were finished, the time had come to be recognized for their accomplishments. They had rehearsed for hours in their minds how it would happen, but this time it was real. The names were read and each student advanced to recover their diploma which to some represented another step in school and to others the beginning of their lives as independent adults.

The diplomas were passed out and there was nothing else to pay so the candles that represented their learning were lit. As they walked out the candles burned brightly illuminating the path of their future.

Seniors Troy Miller, Lynn Billiard, and Andy Carcione look forward to becoming alumni of Wayne.

Lincoln Confronts

Everyone knows the purpose of the English department: to teach us to write good (sic). In every course, certainly correct writing is stressed to some degree, but Wayne's English Department offers such a wide variety of studies that there is something for everyone. Elective courses cover everything from the academy classes for freshmen to the advanced comp classes for seniors.

Without a sense of history, today's generation would be doomed to repeat the mistakes of its forefather's, rather than to learn how to avoid them. Helping students learn about past events and what to expect of the future is a major goal of the Social Studies Department. Just imagine all the things that history students in the year 2000 will read about 1983-84: Jessie Jackson, first black to run for President of the United States, Marines killed in Lebanon, a Korean airline with Americans aboard shot down by the Soviet Union, and last but not least a deficit that reached into the trillions. When one considers how much history is happening before our very eyes, it makes it somewhat easier to understand what it must have been like living during various historical periods described in textbooks.

More Than Just . . .

Math teacher, Mr. Smith searches through his desk for some papers while senior, Darren Bailey takes advantage of the spare time he has service working.

Numbers!

Math, geometry, trigonometry, and advanced math are words which cause students to shudder in fear. Thoughts of stern, stiff-necked teachers lecturing about a complex equation on a blackboard come to mind. But here at Wayne, teachers make the math classes fun.

Other students are typing out equations on a computer and advancing their skills in different types of computer programming. But even they will have to return to humdrum and the never-ending sea of numbers and proofs that simply have to be done.

But all in all, students are advancing their skills in both the classrooms and computer rooms. They are receiving the education in the field of math that they need to succeed in life.

SHOOT ME INTO SPACE

SCIENCE:

A world filled with wondrous gadgets, theories, and experimentations is the Wayne Science Department. It is here that the student takes his/her knowledge of mathematics and applies them to the environment. Mr. Masterson, chairperson of the department, communicates well with his classes enabling them to willingly accept and develop the new knowledge that has been presented.

In the laboratory you see enlightened faces, raised eyebrows, or the murmurs of "ohh" and "ahhh" as the students experiment with crustaceans, chemicals, and carbon compounds. Although lab is educational for "on hand experience" there are many hours devoted to the memorizations of various laws.

If pupils pursue their career in the sciences, who knows what may occur in the upcoming years. For all we can gather is that one day a student may return to his teacher and offer him a ride around space.

Working Nine to Five

The Business Department had a very successful year. With the offering of courses ranging from word processing and data processing to accounting, students were encouraged to increase their speed and accuracy, and become efficient in the above mentioned areas. The students also had the opportunity to work on the six VAX terminals the Business Department now owns. They hope that in the future they will have a room full of terminals. Business students will then have a chance to practice their computer skills by using the terminals on a daily basis.

Junior, Susan Hunter frantically types her assignment.

THE MORE ADVANCED YOU GET . . . THE MORE ADVANCED IT GETS.

It was a good year for Wayne's art and graphics classes. Three students, Julie Jaques, Suzanne Pfeiffer, and Nicole Walker all won gold medals for their art projects in the National Honor Society of Art Classes in New York.

The advanced architecture class also did very well in their contest. Rex Hambrock received a blue ribbon for his outstanding model home. The class also entered a model bridge which received a first place.

Wayne should be proud of these students and teacher of the year Mr. Larry Ewing.

Life . . .

The Home Economics department has classes in clothing, foods, human development, home management, housing, needlecraft, chefs and home economics 9. All have studied concepts that will help students become more responsible, productive adults. In helping the concepts become more meaningful many special events were planned and completed.

Human development classes organized a dream wedding in conjunction with the classroom activities. The students were then given the responsibility of protecting a raw egg, pretending that it was a fragile newborn baby which needed 24 hour care. Then special guests (infants, toddlers, and rompers) were invited to display their abilities and interest.

The food classes planned, prepared and served lunches on March 22, 1984. They also helped at the prom and the Honors dessert.

And, that's life and living in Home Ec. and Human Development.

MEET ME AROUND THE WORLD

The Latin classes have participated in many activities throughout the year. As with most foreign language classes, Latin has much to offer for students who are interested in the fields of mathematics, the sciences, linguistics, plus many other vocations in today's evergrowing society. Students have not only been exposed to the grammatical rules and vocabulary of the language, but also studies in Roman and Greek mythology, poetry, the ideals of Roman society and the people they influenced, and other aspects of Rome and its inhabitants.

The Spanish heritage continues with each annual progression of the Spanish classes. Directed by Mr. Septer, the students have indulged in grammatical rules, vocabulary, and an introduction to the history of Spain. Some of the pupils gorged at Chi Chi's and Bandido's, restaurants which have Spanish food on their menus.

In German class the students gained much knowledge concerning the country, reading time, and various culture experiences. Many of the students made attempts to prepare bratwurst and fruitcake which are German foods, but if their attempts failed they would gather their belongs and travel to the Heidleburg in Hunington.

The French students obtained wisdom about regular and irregular verbs, culture, food, grammar, the history of the French Revolution, and translations.

The Variety of Learning

The atmosphere in the library is a quiet one that enables students to work independently and find information quickly. It provides a relaxing place that is conducive to study. Not only does the library provide books and journals for students who are writing term papers, but also, records and tapes for improving one's musical talents. There are films and filmstrips available for students doing presentations for different classes. A resource for any type of library materials, the Media Center also provides popular magazines for students who want to get away from it all. Mr. Graham and Mr. Weick are always there and willing to help.

The library facility offers a wide assortment of reference materials.

GO CHICKEN FAT GO!

Some few find it to be an extremely enjoyable experience a chance to display to their peers their athletic ability. But for others, less athletically inclined, the class is looked upon as a cruel and harsh fate, especially with the co-ed program. Gym class . . .

Whatever opinion a student holds of gym class, he or she must realize that it is for his or her benefit.

There is a strong correlation between body and mind. When one is not functioning well, the other tends to slacken, too. So if the physical education student is not overcome with enthusiasm at the thought of doing push-ups or running laps, he can console himself with the knowledge that he is bettering his chances to do well academically.

The Physical Education course develops strong bodies, alert minds, and (as the co-ed participants will tell you) a lot of guts.

PEOPLE

The halls of Wayne burst with a special kind of energy during those short five minute intervals that pass between the classes. It is here that Wayne's real asset is shown. The bustle of activity rumbles through the halls in a thousand fast conversations as students rush to that next class. A quick word of the latest happening, a brief romantic rendezvous, a threatening glance toward that teacher that just stretched a student's mind to uncomfortable proportions all this makes up the character of Wayne. Then the bell rings. One last furious bustle and the halls are still.

The students yawn, the teacher fidgets during those last agonizing minutes as the slender red hand rotates slowly, ever so slowly around the circular dial, inching toward freedom. Then there are those unlucky few who sit while the lesson drones on, at five seconds till, the assignment is announced. Homework, of all the luck. Well, homeward bound and to the books, but that's not all . . .

THE MANY FACES OF WAYNE

Sophomores, Brenda Werling and Marie Hamrick work on the albums for the yearbook.

Index

One of the most anxiously awaited moments of the school day is the ringing of the 2:35 bell. Masses of students burst from the rooms and fill the halls with noise as the rush to evacuate the building begins.

Even before the bell sounds, the intensity and anxiousness is building throughout the student body. Tired teachers attempt to push more information into the minds of their students. The students, however, have other things to occupy their thoughts. Some worry about their responsibilities, such as homework or their jobs. Many daydream about their plans for the evening. And others desire only rest and relaxation from the tedious life at school.

When at last the dull sound drones from the P.A. system, there is mass confusion. The crowd of students moves like a train: unified, motorized, and unstoppable. For the person who is caught walking in the opposite direction of the majority, it is like battling a strong wind. And as the last wandering students drift away into the afternoon, the halls seem to sigh with relief that all is quiet again.

FOR EVERY ENDING THERE IS A BEGINNING

THE 1983-84 SCHOOL YEAR IS OVER;
FINISHED, ENDED, AND GONE.
THE MOMENTS SLIPPED BY
LIKE THE SANDS IN THE GLASS.
YET THE MEMORIES STILL LINGER
OF THE TIME THAT HAS PASSED.
WE THINK BACK AND REMEMBER
THAT FOR EVERY ENDING
THERE IS A BEGINNING.

Students leave school for the day.
